

The company has been collaborating with Down Madrid for over a decade

OHL receives two 2018 Stela Awards for its commitment to the occupational integration of intellectually disabled persons

26 / 04 / 2018. The OHL Group, through OHL Servicios, division specialized in facility management, has been distinguished with the Stela Awards for the fourth consecutive year. The award, given by Down Madrid, a non-profit organization whose mission is the social inclusion of persons with Down syndrome and other intellectual disabilities, has acknowledged with this award, OHL's commitment in favor of the occupational-labor integration of the groups with which the foundation works.

Jorge Jiménez de Cisneros, General Director of Atención a Personas con Discapacidad of the Madrid Community and the President of Patronato de Down Madrid, Inés Álvarez, were among the attendees of the award ceremony held in Madrid on April 24th.

Álvaro Rodríguez and Juan Antonio Olivares, beneficiaries of the occupational-labor incorporation programs driven by the OHL Group, were in charge of accepting the two awards given. The company has been collaborating with Down Madrid for over a decade in favor of occupational-labor integration.

OHL Group attendees at the 2018 Stela Awards ceremony.